Background:

The United States Consumer Products Safety Commission maintains an Internet website listing all recalled products. Included on the website is a category for infant and child products.

The DOH has one staff person who is designated by the United States Consumer Products Safety Commission as their state contact. The agency and the local health jurisdictions receive press releases from the commission related to recalls and recommended product modifications.

The Washington State Library maintains a website for consumers that provides search capability of over seventy recommended consumer protection sites. The site also highlights specific product recalls. The website is sponsored by the Office of the Attorney General, Department of Ecology, Department of Social and Health Services, Liquor Control Board, North Central Educational Service District, Office of the Governor and the Utilities and Transportation Commission.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

The bill instructs the DOH to promote awareness of products designed to be used by infants and children, excluding toys, that have been determined to be unsafe by the United States consumer products safety commission. Unsafe products– include recalls and products requiring modification.

DOH is authorized to use various methods to reach the target population. The department may operate the campaign or to contract with a vendor and may receive non-state funding for the campaign.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill:

The department is no longer required to produce a brochure. DOH is no longer required to perform the education and outreach activities and is no longer authorized to solicit non-state funding.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date of Substitute Bill: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Testimony For: My child would be alive today if I'd had access to this information. We want to prevent anyone else going through this. We want to get the information out so that people know how to find our about these products.

Testimony Against: None.
