Background: Since the Sentencing Reform Act of 1981 was enacted, the Legislature has enacted several changes in the act's sentencing provisions. The Legislature has not engaged in a comprehensive review of the act to determine whether the act's purposes are being achieved, whether those purposes should be revised, and whether intermediate punishments could be used as alternatives to total confinement.

Summary of Bill: A task force on sentencing of adult criminal offenders is created. The task force is comprised of 14 members, including 12 legislators and two governor appointees. The objectives of the task force are to determine whether the articulated purposes of the sentencing reform act remain valid or should be modified, study the incarceration patterns of adult offenders, determine the extent to which alternatives to total confinement are being used and to make recommendations to ensure that alternatives to total confinement are used when appropriate, and determine whether sentencing options should be expanded. The task force must report to the Legislature by December 15, 1992.

Fiscal Note: Available on substitute.

Appropriation: Removed.

Effective Date: The bill contains an emergency clause and takes effect immediately.

Testimony For: (Judiciary): The bill will assure continuance of a useful cooperative effort to address law enforcement issues.

(Appropriations): None.

Testimony Against: (Judiciary): The bill is an unnecessary limitation on executive branch flexibility.

(Appropriations): None.

Witnesses: (Judiciary): Mike Redman, Washington Association of Prosecuting Attorneys (in favor); and Sid Sidorowicz, Governor's Office (opposed).

(Appropriations): None.
