BACKGROUND:

Occupational therapists are licensed under Chapter 18.59 RCW. They provide rehabilitative services to individuals suffering physical injury or illness, psychosocial dysfunction, and developmental or learning disabilities. Currently, the state medical assistance program reimburses for occupational services provided to adults on an inpatient basis or by a home health agency. Occupational therapy services are provided to Medicaid eligible children through the Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment Program (EPSDT). The medical director of the Department of Social and Health Services may also authorize reimbursement for outpatient occupational therapy services deemed medically necessary. Other outpatient occupational therapy services are not reimbursed.

SUMMARY:

Reimbursement for outpatient occupational therapy services to eligible categorically and medically needy adults not currently receiving such services is authorized under the medical assistance program.

The act is contingent up funding in the Omnibus Appropriations Act.

Appropriation: none

Revenue: none

Fiscal Note: available

TESTIMONY FOR:

The bill will allow for cost efficient outpatient occupational therapy services for Medicaid patients.
