SENATE COMMITTEE ON HEALTH & LONG-TERM CARE

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON HEALTH CARE

BACKGROUND:

The regulation of nursing assistants is codified in three separate chapters of law (Chapters 18.52A, 18.52B and 18.88A RCW). Chapter 18.52A RCW provides for the qualifications and training requirements of nursing assistants working in the state's nursing homes or rural hospital wings operating nursing home swing beds. Chapter 18.52B RCW provides for certification of nursing assistants. Chapter 18.88A RCW establishes a certification and registration program for nursing assistants working in a health care facility. This directs the state Board of Nursing to determine minimum educational requirements, define and approve experience requirements, and other activities associated with certification of nursing assistants. The three separate acts have caused confusion in the regulation of this profession.

In 1989 the Legislature authorized until January 1, 1990 a grandfather provision. This allowed the Board of Nursing to certify a person to practice as a nursing assistant if the person met commonly accepted standards of education and experience as a nursing assistant. However, many registered nursing assistants were not notified of the law permitting them to upgrade their credentialing to certification.

SUMMARY:

Chapters 18.52A and 18.52B are each repealed. The two levels of nursing assistants (certified and registered) are maintained. The state Board of Nursing is directed to determine minimum educational requirements, approve training programs, administer the certification examination, define experience requirements and implement the continued competency evaluation program. The Secretary of Health has general authority to administer the regulatory act and is the disciplinary authority.

Certification is voluntary for nursing assistants working in health care facilities unless otherwise required by state or federal requirements. The state Board of Nursing is required to promulgate rules regarding the scope of practice of nursing assistants. Exemptions from regulation are included for those regulated under other practice acts, employees of the federal government and students.

The grandfather date allowing nursing assistants to become certified is extended from January 1, 1990 to December 31, 1991. Credentialing by endorsement is authorized. The Secretary of Health is required to establish procedural requirements and fees for renewal of registrations and certifications. A person who allows his or her certification to lapse for more than three years shall demonstrate competence to the satisfaction of the board.
