Background: The Legislature directed the Department of Ecology to include in its rules a process for negotiation between the proponent of a hazardous waste management facility and the community that will be affected by the proposal. The department's rules include provisions requiring review of the impacts of the facility on the community infrastructure. The parties' agreement is incorporated by the department into the facility's permit. The facility must also have an impact mitigation plan that includes mitigation measures for significant adverse impacts of the facility, including economic impacts.

Summary of Bill: The applicant for hazardous waste incinerator shall negotiate with any county which may be affected by the incinerator's operation to mitigate the impacts, including economic impacts, of the facility on the county. The mitigation may be in the form of fees or other measures. The negotiation shall be conducted through the citizen-proponent negotiation process and any agreement shall be incorporated into a permit.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Testimony For: Counties which may be the host of a hazardous waste incinerator will have significant impacts from the facility. They need to be able to impose a fee to compensate for these impacts.

Testimony Against: (Original Bill) There are no limits on what fee a county may charge or the purpose for its imposition. A county will essentially be able to make an incinerator impossible to build by imposing a fee so high that an incinerator could not operate.
