Background: A student who violates the law prohibiting dangerous weapons on school premises is guilty of a gross misdemeanor and subject to expulsion.

Current law and regulations do not explicitly require the parents or guardians to be notified when a student violates the law prohibiting dangerous weapons on school premises, if the student is not suspended, expelled, or otherwise disciplined in a manner requiring parental notification.

Law enforcement authorities need not be notified unless the school district wants charges to be filed against the juvenile. A recent survey by the Washington State School

Directors' Association and Association of Washington School Principals indicates schools currently are not reporting all incidents of students possessing dangerous weapons on school grounds to law enforcement agencies.

Summary of Substitute Bill: Each school district must adopt and implement a policy for notifying the parents or guardians of any student violating the law prohibiting dangerous weapons on school premises.

The policy must require prompt notification of the local law enforcement agency as well.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill: A technical clarification is made.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Effective Date of Substitute Bill: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Testimony For: Weapons in schools are a widespread problem; it is imperative to send the message that such incidents will be taken seriously. Schools and law enforcement agencies must communicate with one another to provide a safe school environment.

Testimony Against: None.

Witnesses: Representative Barbara Cothorn, prime sponsor; and Scott G. Smith, Mountlake Terrace City Police Department.
