BACKGROUND:

Under current law, it is illegal for a person to transfer an identification card to another person for the purposes of purchasing alcohol. However, it is not illegal for a person to transfer an identification card to another for the purposes of entering an establishment or portion of an establishment that is off limits to individuals under 21 years of age.

Class D licensees, including golf clubs, hotels, and restaurants, are only permitted to sell beer for consumption on premises in an opened bottle. These licensees are not allowed to sell unopened bottles of beer.

Currently, only Class H restaurants are allowed to acquire a Class I caterer's license. Class A, C, or D licensees including restaurants and hotels who sell beer or wine are not allowed to obtain a Class I caterer's license.

Special occasion licensees are currently allowed to purchase wine or beer to be served at their events from a wholesaler. They are not allowed to purchase beer and wine from a licensed retailer.

Individuals who make wine at home are allowed to enter their wine in wine exhibits and wine tasting events. However, individuals who brew beer at home are not allowed to enter their beer in beer exhibits or beer tasting events.

Individuals who lie to an owner of a licensed establishment selling alcohol regarding the purchase or consumption of alcohol by an underage person can be charged with a misdemeanor. However, it is not illegal for an individual to lie to the employee of an owner of a licensed establishment or a law enforcement or liquor enforcement officer.

Restaurants licensed to sell beer or wine under a Class A, C, or D license often have a portion of the premises set off as a "taproom" for the consumption of these beverages. Under current law, a minor is not prohibited from entering and remaining on such premises.

It is a misdemeanor to serve or allow to remain in any area classified as off-limits any person under the age of 21 or for any person under the age of 21 years to enter or remain in an area classified as off-limits.

EFFECT OF PROPOSED SUBSTITUTE:

A class B licensee operating a bowling ally may obtain approval from the Liquor Control Board to sell or serve alcohol in the concourse or lane areas of the bowling alley when such areas are adjacent to the food preparation service facility.

An international export beer and wine license is created.
