Background: Teachers who are on leave of absence to serve as legislators can receive insurance benefits as state employees through the Health Care Authority (HCA). Many of these teachers also have the option to continue their district-provided insurance benefits during their leave of absence, but on a self-pay basis. Presented with these choices, teacher-legislators may choose to receive coverage as state employees and then return to their K-12 provided benefits when they return to their regular employment after the legislative session is over. Though the teacher-legislator has returned to coverage through their school district, the Legislature continues to pay for insurance benefits for that legislator through the Health Care Authority.

Summary of Bill: Teachers on leave of absence to serve as legislators can choose between receiving HCA insurance benefits as state employees or choose to have the Legislature pay the school district for the cost of continuing district-provided benefits while the legislator is on leave from the school district. The amount of the payment to the school district cannot exceed the cost of the benefit package provided by the HCA to state employees.

The HCA is directed to adopt rules regarding legislators' choice for HCA insurance benefits or the continuation of district provided insurance benefits.
