HOUSE COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS

Majority Report: Do pass as amended by Committee on Appropriations and without amendment by Committee on Law & Justice. Signed by 31 members: Representatives Huff, Chairman; Alexander, Vice Chairman; Clements, Vice Chairman; Wensman, Vice Chairman; H. Sommers, Ranking Minority Member; Doumit, Assistant Ranking Minority Member; Gombosky, Assistant Ranking Minority Member; Benson; Carlson; Chopp; Cody; Cooke; Crouse; Dyer; Grant; Keiser; Kenney; Kessler; Lambert; Linville; Lisk; Mastin; McMorris; Parlette; Poulsen; Regala; D.Schmidt; Sehlin; Sheahan; Talcott and Tokuda.

Staff: Dave Johnson (786-7154).

Background: The drunk driving law contains a variety of penalties. Generally, mandatory fines, periods of jail time, and driver's license suspensions escalate with successive convictions for driving while under the influence (DUI). There is a five-year "washout" period for purposes of counting prior convictions. That is, a second DUI conviction only enhances penalties if it occurs within five years of a prior offense.

Penalties also vary depending on the breath or blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of the offender. BACs of 0.15 or more result in enhanced penalties. If there is no BAC reading available, penalties are also enhanced if the reason for the absence of a BAC reading was the offender's refusal to submit to a BAC test.

DUI is a gross misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $5,000 fine. Mandatory minimum jail sentences begin with 24 hours in jail for an offender with no priors and a BAC below 0.15, and escalate to 120 days in jail for an offender with two or more priors and a BAC of 0.15 or above.

Summary of Bill: A new penalty is added to those that apply to DUI cases. Electronic home monitoring is optional in lieu of mandatory minimum jail time for first-time offenders. It is a mandatory addition to mandatory minimum jail time for second or third offenders. Mandatory periods of home monitoring range from 15 days in lieu of one day in jail for a first-time offender with a BAC below 0.15, to 150 days in addition to 120 days in jail for a third-time offender with a BAC of 0.15 or above.

Electronic home monitoring may include restrictions on the consumption of alcohol and the use of an alcohol detection device. The offender is to pay the cost of home monitoring as determined by the local jurisdiction in which the penalty is imposed.

DUI defendants are required to appear in person for arraignment following arrest or charging. In the case of an arrest, the defendant must appear on the next judicial day following arrest. In the case of a charge without an arrest, the defendant must appear within 14 days of the next judicial day following the charging. At the appearance, the court is to consider conditions of pretrial release.

Court jurisdiction is extended from two years to five years in DUI cases in which a portion of the offenders jail sentence is suspended.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available. New fiscal note requested on February 19, 1998.

Effective Date of Amended Bill: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed except for section 4 which has an emergency clause and takes effect immediately, and sections 1 through 3 which take effect November 1, 1998. However, the bill is null and void unless funded in the budget.

Testimony For: (Law & Justice) Electronic home monitoring can be an effective addition to the penalties for DUI. It is cost efficient since the offenders will pay for it. Increasing fines also will enhance local revenues. A serious repeat offender should lose his or her license permanently and should only be able to get it back if he or she cannot demonstrate rehabilitation. It is very important that new DUI laws be publicized if they are to have maximum effect.

(Appropriations) As the bill passed the Law and Justice Committee, it does not impose significant additional costs on local governments. This is a responsible way to increase sentences for repeat offenders without adversely affecting jail populations. Local governments are concerned about the total fiscal impact of the DUI bills.
