Background: The Office of Financial Management (OFM), along with the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) and other state agencies, prepares caseload forecasts for state social programs, corrections, medical assistance, long-term care, income assistance and K-12.

In addition, OFM annually prepares population estimates for local governments for the allocation of revenues. They prepare annual certifications of all annexations and new incorporations in Washington to the federal Bureau of the Census and act as the official liaison to the federal Census Bureau.

The Economic and Revenue Forecast Council consists of representatives of each of the four legislative caucuses and two representatives of the Governor. The council employs a forecast supervisor and staff who prepares an economic and revenue forecast four times a year.

Summary of Bill: A new Caseload Forecast Council is created, comprised of representatives of each of the four legislative caucuses and two representatives of the Governor.

The council employs a supervisor and staff to perform forecasts of state entitlement programs, correctional institutions, institutions for juvenile offenders, K-12, long-term care, medical assistance, foster care and adoption support. The Caseload Forecast Council does not forecast state population and is not involved in population estimates.

These forecasts are at least three times per year and coincide with the development of the Governor's budget proposal and the legislative budget.

A workgroup consisting of staff from OFM, legislative committees, and state agencies is formed to facilitate a free flow of information concerning the forecast. The workgroup is involved in the assumption setting process and has access to the models used for the forecasts.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Requested January 29, 1997.

Effective Date: The bill contains an emergency clause and takes effect on July 1, 1997.
