Brief Title: Prohibiting discrimination against students educated in private, parochial, and home-based instruction.

SB 5333 - DIGEST

Provides that private, parochial, and home-based instruction students are entitled to all the benefits of the certificate of mastery upon successfully passing the standardized test or an academic knowledge-based objective test selected by the private or parochial school or the parent of the home-based instruction student if the test meets the requirement of RCW 28A.200.010(3) in effect on July 25, 1993.

Provides that private, parochial, and home-based instruction students shall not be denied equal access or opportunities to any benefit or benefits provided by the certificate of mastery obtained in the public schools of this state.
