Background:

Historic furnishings on the capitol campus are currently subject to the Department of General Administration surplus procedures.

These procedures allow for the sale of surplus property to state elected officials if an item is valued lower than resale, declared surplus of a personal nature, and depicts or represents the office in which they have served, then elected officials may purchase such items after leaving office.

Summary of Bill:

The Capitol Furnishings Preservation Committee is established to recover, preserve and prevent future loss of historic furnishings. The committee is also to review and advise future remodeling and restoration projects pertaining to historic furniture.

The Capitol Furnishings Preservation Committee has authority to decide whether Capitol campus furnishings over 50 years old are surplus or historic items. Historic furnishings are defined to include furniture, fixtures and artwork over 50 years old.

Committee membership is made up of legislators, representatives of statewide offices, the state historical society, and private citizens.

The Capitol Furnishings Preservation Committee account is created to allow for donations and grants to be accepted, and allows for limited expenditures to finance the purchase and preservation of historic furnishings.

Committee members are authorized to solicit donations of Capitol furnishings, donations and grants, with explicit exemption from the public disclosure laws for this purpose.

Clarifies the role of the preservation committee members, and the way in which they can accept donations and authorize expenditures from the newly created, non-appropriated capitol furnishings preservations committee account.

Only the director of the Washington State Historical Society, or the director's designee, is authorized to expend funds from the capitol furnishings preservation committee account.

The provision that committee members who are soliciting furnishings or monetary donations expressly for the committee are exempt from public disclosure laws, is codified in Chapter 42.17 RCW.

EFFECT OF SENATE AMENDMENT(S): Exempts members of the Capital Furnishing Preservation Committee from the public ethics laws (chapter 42.52), instead of the public disclosure laws (chapter 42.17), while acting on behalf of the committee.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Testimony For: (State Government) (Original Bill) Washington state capitol campus is rich in state history, and General Administration supports the effort to preserve history. General Administration cares for public areas, but not for personal items. This is inconsistent, and the committee would fix the inconsistency. The 75-year anniversary of the legislative building is in 2002-2003, and this committee ties in well. This is a valuable project, and there is a need to get all old furnishings that have been lost, back. Eugene Prince should be designated as a private citizen on the committee because of his length of service in the Legislature, as should Sid Snyder. Under former Governor Dixie Lee Ray, oriental rugs from the Governor's mansion were sold, and they have since been purchased and donated back to the state for historical purposes.

(Appropriations) (Substitute bill) Many existing Capitol furnishings need refurbishing. This committee would help restore furnishings back to the condition of their original era, and would keep original furnishings from disappearing.

Testimony Against: (State Government) None

(Appropriations) None.

Testified: (State Government) (Original Bill) Mary Grace Jennings, Department of General Administration; Dave Nicandri, Washington State Historical Society; and Ralph Munro, Secretary of State.

(Appropriations) (Substitute bill) Representative Sandra Romero, prime sponsor.
