Background:

Currently, Washington State driver's licenses, commercial driver's licenses, and driver's licenses containing motorcycle endorsements are valid for four years. The fee for both the initial and renewal driver's license is $14 (or $3.50 per year). An additional fee, not to exceed $12 for each class (or $3 per year), is required for the issuance or renewal of a commercial driver's license. Finally, an additional fee for the issuance of an initial or new category motorcycle endorsement is $6 (or $1.50 per year), and the subsequent renewal endorsement fee is $14 (or $3.50 per year).

The $3.50 yearly fee for the driver's license was last increased in 1978. The revenue generated from the current fee is insufficient to cover the cost of all the functions of the driver's license program.

Summary of Bill:

Washington State driver's licenses, commercial driver's licenses, and driver's licenses containing motorcycle endorsements are valid for six years. The annual fee for driver's licenses is increased by $1.50 per year. The fee for both the initial and renewal driver's license would be $30 (or $5 per year). An additional fee, not to exceed $24 for each class (or $4 per year), is required for the issuance or renewal of a commercial driver's license. An additional fee, not to exceed $9 (or $1.50 per year), is required for the issuance of an initial or new category motorcycle endorsement, and the subsequent renewal endorsement fee is not to exceed $30 (or $5 per year).

During the period from July 1, 2000 to July 1, 2006, the Department of Licensing, in order to evenly distribute the yearly renewal rate of licensed drivers, may issue or renew a driver's license for a period other than six years. As well, the department may extend by mail a license that has already been issued, in which case, the fee is $5 for each year that the license is issued, renewed, or extended.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Requested on March 3, 1999.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect on July 1, 2000.

Testimony For: Passage of the bill would mean people would renew their driver's license every six years instead of every four. This reduces the number of visits people need to make to the driver's licensing office, which reduces the number of people visiting the offices, which reduces the amount of time people need to spend waiting in line when they do go.

Testimony Against: None.

Testified: Fred Stephens, Department of Licensing; Judith Giniger, Department of Licensing; and Joe Johnston, Veteran's Legislative Committee.
