Brief Description: Revising sanctions for violating conditions of the juvenile offender basic training camp program.

Sponsors: Representatives O'Brien and Ballasiotes; by request of Department of Social and Health Services.

Brief History:

Committee Activity: Human Services & Corrections: 3/25/99, 3/30/99 [DP-WM].

SENATE COMMITTEE ON HUMAN SERVICES & CORRECTIONS

Majority Report: Do pass and be referred to Committee on Ways & Means.

Staff: Lynn Hale (786-7430)

Background: Concern exists over the level of accountability for juvenile offenders involved in the Basic Training Camp Aftercare Program. A juvenile offender who successfully graduates from the basic training camp program spends the remainder of his disposition on parole. Under current law, a juvenile who violates any condition of the disposition may be subject to a revocation of parole up to a 30-day confinement, execution of the disposition, or both.

It has been suggested that the Legislature could increase public safety and ensure accountability by giving the Department of Social and Health Services the ability to increase parole conditions or return a juvenile to a juvenile rehabilitation facility for the remainder of the juvenile's sentence range.

Summary of Bill: The consequences for a parole violation are expanded to include an increase of parole conditions, or a return to confinement for the remainder of the juvenile's sentence range.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Testimony For: Accountability is provided for juvenile offenders who violate parole after completion of the Basic Training Camp Aftercare Program.

Testimony Against: None.

Testified: Representative O'Brien, prime sponsor.
