Brief Title: Requiring the superintendent of public instruction to develop a list of traffic safety education courses for parents providing home-based instruction.

HB 1450 - DIGEST

Requires the superintendent of public instruction to develop a list of parent-led traffic safety and driver's education courses that are nationally recognized or approved for use in other states. The list shall be made available to parents providing home-based instruction in accordance with chapter 28A.200 RCW.

Requires parents providing home-based instruction who are interested in using any of the courses on the list to certify to the superintendent that: (1) The parent providing the instruction has a current driver's license issued by the state of Washington;

(2) the parent providing the instruction has not been convicted of criminally negligent vehicular homicide or driving while intoxicated within the last ten years; and

(3) the parent providing the instruction has not been disabled because of mental illness.
