Brief Description: Preventing bomb making by minors.

HB 2556 - DIGEST

Finds that an ever-increasing amount of information on making explosive devices such as bombs is being made readily available to an ever-growing number of people, including young children. Minors are being given access to information on how to make explosive devices with such specificity and sufficiency that they are able to quickly assemble a bomb with otherwise legal and easily obtainable materials and cause it to be detonated.

Declares an intent to exercise police powers to maintain the safety of children and protect the public at large by ensuring access to information regarding explosive devices and the use or disposal of such devices by minors are properly authorized and supervised.
