Background:

The services and activities of recreation therapy are not regulated by the state as a health profession. Recreation therapists provide the use of recreational and/or community counseling and community integration as treatment intervention to improve the functioning of persons with disabilities.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

A registration program for recreation therapy is established under the secretary of health. Persons who practice or represent themselves as a registered recreation therapist must register with the Department of Health.

A recreation therapist performs recreational and/or community activities to include leisure counseling and community integration as treatment intervention to improve functional leisure and community competence of persons with physical, cognitive, emotional, behavioral, or social disabilities.

The secretary is authorized to adopt rules implementing the registration program, establish registration fees, and procedures necessary to administer the program. The secretary must issue a registration to an applicant who complies with the requirements of the chapter.

The secretary is the disciplining authority under the Uniform Disciplinary Act governing the issuance and denial of registration, unauthorized practice, and the discipline of persons registered under this act for unprofessional conduct.
