- Deducts veterans benefits for service related disabilities from income when determining eligibility for the senior citizen property tax relief program.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Majority Report: The substitute bill be substituted therefor and the substitute bill do pass. Signed by 10 members: Representatives Cairnes, Republican Co-Chair; Morris, Democratic Co-Chair; Berkey, Democratic Vice Chair; Roach, Republican Vice Chair; Carrell, Conway, Pennington, Santos, Van Luven and Veloria.

Staff: Rick Peterson (786-7150).

Background:

Some senior citizens and persons retired due to disability are entitled to property tax relief on their principal residences. To qualify, a person must be 61 in the year of application or retired from employment because of a physical disability, own his or her principal residence, and have a disposable income of less than $30,000 a year. Persons meeting these criteria are entitled to partial property tax exemptions and a valuation freeze.

Disposable income is defined as the sum of federally defined adjusted gross income and the following, if not already included: capital gains; deductions for loss; depreciation; pensions and annuities; military pay and benefits; veterans' benefits except attendant-care and medical-aid payments; Social Security and federal railroad retirement benefits; dividends; and interest income. Payments for the care of either spouse received in the home or in a nursing home and payments for prescription drugs are deducted in determining disposable income.

Partial exemptions for senior citizens and persons retired due to disability are provided as follows:

- A. If the income level is $24,001 to $30,000, all excess levies are exempted.
- B. If the income level is $18,001 to $24,000, all excess levies and regular levies on the greater of $40,000 or 35 percent of assessed valuation ($60,000 maximum) are exempted.
- C. If the income level is $18,000 or less, all excess levies and regular levies on the greater of $50,000 or 60 percent of assessed valuation are exempted.

In addition to the partial exemptions listed above, the valuation of the residence of an eligible senior citizen or disabled person is frozen at the assessed value of the residence on the later of January 1, 1995, or January 1 of the assessment year the person first qualifies for the program.

Summary of Bill:

Veterans of the U.S. armed forces with 100 percent service connected disability are eligible for the same property tax relief on their homes as provided to senior citizens with income below $18,000. They are exempt on all excess levies. The assessed value of their home is frozen and they are exempt on regular levies on the greater of $50,000 or 60 percent of assessed valuation.

Veterans' benefits for disabilities related to the performance of military duties are no longer counted in income used for determining eligibility for senior citizens and persons retired.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Testimony For: It is time to correct a wrong. Veterans have earned this privilege. The federal government does not consider veteran disability retirement income as taxable but Washington continues to use this income for purposes for the state property tax relief program. This tax cut is justified and appropriate. It is time that Washington takes a step for disabled veterans in need. But is this enough? Recently the Congress made an allowance for severely disabled veterans (defined as those with over 70 percent disabled.) The committee should consider lowering the 100 percent requirement to 70 percent.

Testimony Against: None.

Testified: Representative Campbell, prime sponsor; and Randy Renfrow.
