Brief Description: Establishing the retirement age for members of the Washington state patrol retirement system.

HB 1323 - DIGEST

Provides that, beginning July 1, 2003, any active member who has obtained the age of sixty-five years shall be retired on the first day of the calendar month next succeeding that in which the member has attained the age of sixty-five. However, the requirement to retire at age sixty-five does not apply to a member serving as chief of the Washington state patrol.
