Brief Description: Protecting military installations from encroachment of incompatible land uses.

SB 6401 - DIGEST

(SUBSTITUTED FOR - SEE 1ST SUB)

Declares that "encroachment," as used in the context of military installations, means a pattern of development where, over time, land uses incompatible with noise levels and the accident potential associated with military installations are developed:

- (1) In increasingly closer proximity to the installations;
- (2) At an increasingly higher density and intensity of land use; and
- (3) In a manner that decreases the ability of the installations to fulfill their mission requirements.
