Background:

Property taxes are imposed by the state and many local governments. All real and personal property in this state is subject to property tax each year based on its value, unless a specific exemption is provided by law.

The maximum property tax rate is limited by the state constitution to a maximum of 1 percent of true and fair value, or $10 per $1,000 of value. Levies that fit within the 1 percent rate limit are regular levies. Generally, districts are not required to get voter approval for regular levies.

In order to implement the 1 percent rate limit, the Legislature has adopted rate limits for each individual type of district. The dollar rate limits are statutory, and provide a specific limit on the rate each tax district can levy. The state levy rate is limited to $3.60 per $1,000 of assessed value. County general levies are limited to $1.80 per $1,000, county road levies are limited to $2.25 per $1,000, and city levies are limited to $3.375 per $1,000. The state, county, road, and city districts are known as "senior" districts. Junior districts like fire, library, and hospital districts each have specific rate limits as well.

In addition, there is an overall rate limit of $5.90 per $1,000 for most districts. The state property tax and a specific list of local levies, such as emergency medical services, conservation futures, and affordable housing, are not subject to the $5.90 limit. There is a complex system of prorating the various levies so that the total rate for local levies does not exceed $5.90. If the total rate exceeds $10 after prorating under the $5.90 aggregate rate limit then another prorating procedure reduces levy rates so that the total rate is below $10 per $1,000 of value.

In addition to the rate limitations, a district's regular property tax levy is limited by a statutory maximum growth rate in the amount of tax revenue that may be collected from year to year. The limit requires a reduction of property tax rates as necessary to limit the growth in the total amount of property tax revenue received to the lesser of 1 percent or inflation, generally. The revenue limitation does not apply to new value placed on tax rolls attributable to new construction, to improvements to existing property, or to changes in state-assessed valuation.

In areas where property values have grown more rapidly than 1 percent per year the 101 percent revenue limit has caused district tax rates to decline below the maximum rate.

Summary of Third Substitute Bill:

Counties are authorized to impose a regular property tax levy for schools. The levy is submitted to a vote after the county has received resolutions requesting the levy from school district boards. All school districts within counties with fewer than eight districts must request the tax. In counties with more than seven and less than 15 school districts, a majority of the school districts representing at least 75 percent of the students must request the tax. In counties with more than 14 school districts, a majority of the districts representing at least 50 percent of the students must consent to the tax.

Majority voter approval of the tax is required. The maximum levy rate is the lower of the amount required to fully fund the cost-of-living supplement or 75 cents per $1,000 of assessed value. The tax is not subject to either the $5.90 aggregate rate limit or the 101 percent levy revenue limit. The levy proceeds are distributed to school districts based on the number of full-time equivalent employees in each school district and the cost-of-living supplement for the county. The cost-of-living supplement is equal to the difference in rental costs in the county compared to the rental costs in the lowest rental cost county.

The Legislature intends that this additional funding be used by school districts to provide collectively bargained regional cost-of-living salary supplements for school employees.

Third Substitute Bill Compared to Engrossed Second Substitute Bill:

The substitute requires school districts to request the tax as follows: All districts in counties with fewer than eight districts; a majority of the school districts representing at least 75 percent of the students in counties with more than seven and less than 15 school districts; and a majority of the districts representing at least 50 percent of the students in counties with more than 14 school districts.
