Senate Committee on Labor, Commerce, Research & Development

Background: There is concern about state contracts performed, in whole or in part, outside the United States and its impacts on Washington's economy, including its agricultural, manufacturing, and technology sectors. There is also a concern about contracts entered into by state agencies which are performed, in whole or in part, outside the United States.

Business, labor, and government leaders recognize that an objective and thorough study of the impact on Washington's economy of state agency contracts that are performed in whole or in part outside the United States is needed.

Summary: A joint legislative task force is created to study the performance of state contracts outside the United States. The eight-member joint task force consists of two legislators from each caucus of the Senate and House of Representatives.

The joint task force is to consult with and be advised and monitored by an advisory committee consisting of eight members: Three members representing labor; three members representing business, one of whom must represent small business; one member representing the office of the Washington state trade representative; and one member representing the public.

The study is to evaluate:

- the extent to which the performance of state contracts outside the United States results in the creation or loss of family-wage or other jobs;
- the degree to which the performance of contracts inside and outside the U.S. helps Washington's economy and its companies remain competitive globally;
- the extent to which the performance of state agency contracts in whole or in part outside the United States creates a need for adjustment assistance and retraining programs to ensure that Washington's business climate, its employers, and its workers remain competitive globally.
- the degree to which state contracts are being performed at locations outside the U.S.;
- the extent to which state contracts performed at locations outside the U.S. involve personal information;
- subject to available funding, the economic benefit of awarding state contracts to Washington companies;
- the applicability of international trade agreements and federal law to state procurement policies; and
- the extent to which legislative authority over state procurement is adequately protected.

The findings and recommendations of the joint task force must be reported to the legislature by January 1, 2006.
