

SB 6824 - DIGEST

Provides that a person seeking to work at a facility that is part of the community protection program shall submit a full set of fingerprints to the Washington state patrol to be used to conduct a national criminal history background check.

Directs the Washington state patrol to submit the fingerprints of the prospective community protection program worker to the federal bureau of investigation or to such other entity necessary to conduct a national criminal history background check.

Directs the secretary of the department of social and health services to determine what criminal history shall prohibit a person from working at a community protection program facility.