Background:

Statute requires that every dealer and commission merchant dealing in hay or straw must obtain a certified vehicle tare weight and a certified vehicle gross weight for each load hauled and must furnish the consignor with a copy of the certified weight ticket within 72 hours after taking delivery. It is a statutory violation for any licensee to transport hay or straw purchased by weight without the licensee having obtained a certified weight ticket from the first licensed public weighmaster encountered on the ordinary route to the destination for unloading the hay or straw.

A dealer is any person who is not a cash buyer and who solicits for the purposes of reselling. A commission merchant is any person who receives agricultural purchases on consignment for resale. A consignor is any producer who sells, ships, or delivers agricultural product to any dealer or commission agent. A licensee is any person or business licensed under statute, among other things, as a dealer or commission agent.

Tare weight is the weight of a vehicle or container when it is empty. Generally, to calculate the net weight of a load, the container is weighed to establish the tare weight and then weighed again for the gross weight, and the tare is subtracted from the gross to determine how heavy the load is.

Summary of Bill:

If the dealer or commission merchant and a consignor agree in advance and in writing, a certified vehicle tare weight and certified vehicle gross weight may be obtained from a hay or straw processing facility, using a scale approved by the Director of the Washington State Department of Agriculture.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) This bill provides a technical fix to a gap in the law. As it stands, one must load up their vehicle with the hay or straw and then drive to get it weighed without knowing whether the vehicle is over weight. In the meantime, the state patrol can pull the vehicle over and issue a citation. This bill will allow the hay and straw processors to issue weight tickets and facilitates farmers getting their product to market.

(Opposed) None.
