Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) In December 2005, January 13 was designated national Korean-American Day by the United States. It commemorates the arrival of the first pioneer immigrants from Korea to Honolulu, Hawaii on January 13, 1903. Korea and the United States have a long history of partnership and mutual aid. One hundred forty-eight thousand Korean-Americans own businesses in the United States, and 120,000 of those are in Washington.

Korean-Americans are hard-working and politically active in Washington. They have made great educational, economic, and cultural contributions to this country. Recognizing their contributions with a day of commemoration will make Korean-Americans feel proud and appreciated for all they have achieved, and it will encourage the younger generation to work hard, in the footsteps of their parents and grandparents. By creating Korean-American Day, the Legislature will also make Korean-Americans feel welcome in Washington.

(Opposed) None.
