Background:

The Washington State Apple Advertising Commission (Commission) was created by an act of the Washington State Legislature in 1937 at the request of the apple industry. The Commission has a 14-member board of directors, nine of whom are elected by the apple growers in specified districts and four of whom are elected by the apple shippers and marketers in specified districts. One member is the Director of the Washington State Department of Agriculture. Each commissioner is elected for a three-year term.

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

The primary purpose of the Commission is advertising, promotion, education, and market development for the Washington fresh apple crop. Currently, no promotions are being implemented in the United States, but are implemented in more than 30 countries overseas where Washington apples are sold.

Under statutory authority, the Commission collects a mandatory assessment levied against all fresh apple shipments to generate revenue for self-funding purposes. The assessment rate is established by a referendum of commercial apple growers in the state, and remains at the same level every year until changed by growers. No revenues are received from apples diverted to apple processors for juice or sauce.

Summary of Bill:

Vacancies on the Commission are filled by appointment by the Director of the Washington State Department of Agriculture from a list of candidates proposed by the Commission. When only one candidate is proposed, the Director has the discretion to appoint or reject the candidate. When a list is proposed, the Director may select or reject any candidate or reject all candidates.

The requirement that the annual meeting of apple growers be held by February 15 each year is removed.
