This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

The term representatives includes not just attorneys but also union representatives. Giving notice to union representatives helps the union to advise members and to help them understand their rights and obligations under the worker's compensation system. It may be months before an appealable order is issued and representation during this time will ensure that deadlines relating to the claim will be met.

OTHER: It would be a good idea to explore why this legislation is needed. The Legislature needs to find out why claimants need representation to provide them help before an order is issued.

Persons Testifying: PRO: Laurel Smith, Washington State Trial Lawyers; Owen Linch, Teamsters.

OTHER: Dan Fazio, Washington State Farm Bureau; Rick Slunaker, Associated General Contractors of Washington.
