

HB 2723 - DIGEST

Finds that, despite improvements in student achievement as measured by the Washington assessment of student learning, there remain significant numbers of secondary students unable to meet state standards in reading.

Provides that schools receiving allocations under this act shall implement secondary reading intervention programs that focus on providing students with core reading skills.