4 "NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. (1) Because the land use and climate
5 change advisory committee established by ESSB 6580, chapter 289, Laws
6 of 2008, was unable to provide scientific documentation of potential 7 reductions in carbon dioxide emissions resulting from the 8 implementation of this act, it is in the best interest of the people 9 of Washington state to delay implementation of this act until the 10 legislature can make an informed decision.

11 (2) This act must be sent to the cascade policy institute, the 12 pacific northwest national laboratory, the beacon hill institute, and 13 climate solutions for expert peer review to determine the amount of 14 carbon dioxide that would be reduced from its full implementation.
15 The peer review must also review total implementation costs.

16 (3) No portion of this act may take effect until the relevant
17 legislative committees of the house of representatives and the senate 18 have examined the third party reviews, and the full legislature has 19 voted to implement this act."

EFFECT: Specifies that the act may not take effect until: (1) its provisions have been reviewed by four expert third-party peer reviewers to determine carbon dioxide reductions from its implementation and review total implementation costs; and (2) the relevant legislative committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate have examined the third-party reviews and the full legislature has voted to implement the act.
