demonstrating good behavior. Depending upon the crime and the offender's risk classification, he or she may receive from 10 to 50 percent of time off his or her sentence.

An offender convicted of a sex offense, a violent offense, a crime against persons, or a drug crime may be eligible to be released to community custody instead of earned early release. The DOC may deny transfer of an offender to community custody if the offender does not have an approved release plan. A release plan must contain a proposed place of residence and living arrangements. If the DOC determines that the proposed plan may violate the offender's condition of sentence, may place the offender at risk to reoffend, or may compromise community safety, the DOC will not approve the plan. In this event, the offender will remain incarcerated until the DOC approves a new release plan or the offender reaches the end of his or her sentence.

Summary of Amended Bill:

The DOC may provide rental vouchers to an offender for up to three months if rental assistance will enable the offender to have an approved release plan. The voucher must be provided in conjunction with additional transition support programming or services that enable an offender to participate in services, including, but not limited to, substance abuse treatment, mental health treatment, sex offender treatment, education programming, or employment training.

Amended Bill Compared to Original Bill:

The rental voucher must be conditioned on assessment for and the availability of re-entry services in the community.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date of Amended Bill: The bill contains an emergency clause and takes effect immediately, except section 2 which reinstates prior law related to the provisions regarding when an offender may leave DOC before his or her sentence is ended, after a scheduled expiration and takes effect August 1, 2009.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) The purpose of the savings in this bill is to honor our word to an offender when we say that you have actually earned an early release. This bill is based upon the assumption that there are approximately 800 felons, 75 percent of offenders at their early release date, who should be released but are not because they do not have rental money. The intention of this bill is to make sure that those released are not released under a bridge. It is important to make sure that the most important factor regarding recidivism is taken care of. Recidivism is much higher if offenders are released into shelters or homelessness. While a short-term rental system is important, there are some in need of longer terms. The Community, Trade and Economic Development program has been up and running for more than one year. The DOC has, in the past, had a 24-month pilot for offender re-entry. This bill does not take the place of that program, but it is a good compromise to keep offenders from being homeless.

(Opposed) None.
