SENATE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY

Staff: Lidia Mori (786-7755)

Background: The Washington State criminal justice training commission was created by statute in 1974 and its purpose is to provide programs and standards for the training of criminal justice personnel. It consists of 14 members, 11 of whom are appointed by the Governor. The remaining three members are the Attorney General, the special agent in charge of the Seattle office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the Chief of the Washington State Patrol. Seven members of the commission constitute a quorum and meetings may be called by the chair upon the written request of six of the members.

Two separate training standards and education boards were statutorily created in 1997, the board on law enforcement training standards and education, and the board on correctional training standards and education. The purposes of the boards are to review and recommend to the commission, programs and standards for the training and education of law enforcement personnel and correctional personnel respectively.

Summary of Bill: A majority of the members of the criminal justice training commission constitute a quorum. Meetings may be called by the chair upon the written request of one-third of the members.

The board on correctional training standards and education consists of 11 members subject to the following requirements: three must be employed in county or city correctional systems
