Title: An act relating to increasing accountability of persons who drive impaired.

Brief Description: Increasing accountability of persons who drive impaired.

Sponsors: Representatives Goodman, Pedersen, Hurst, Kelley, Blake, Fitzgibbon, Ormsby, Hasegawa and Miloscia.

Brief Summary of Bill

- Makes numerous changes regarding alcohol and drug-related driving statutes, including: the definition of "drugs;" ignition interlock licenses, vacating records of convictions, superior court jurisdiction over offenders, fees related to ignition interlock devices, and other changes.

Hearing Date: 1/18/12

Staff: Trudes Tango (786-7384).

Background:

Driving under the influence.

A person can commit driving or being in physical control of a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug (DUI) if the person drives with a blood or breath alcohol concentration (BAC) of .08 or higher or is under the influence of or affected by liquor or any drug.

The mandatory minimum penalties for DUI vary depending on the person's BAC and whether the person has "prior offenses." The term "prior offense" is defined and generally includes convictions for alcohol and drug-related driving offenses, such as negligent driving in the first degree, reckless driving if the original charge was DUI, and any deferred prosecution for similar alcohol-related driving offenses.

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

The mandatory minimum penalties include electronic home monitoring (EHM). The court may waive EHM under certain circumstances, but must impose an alternative sentence that can include jail time. The statute does not specify how much jail time the court should impose in lieu of EHM.

Penalties also include suspension of the person's driver's license by the Department of Licensing (DOL). A person's license may be suspended based on the criminal conviction or an administrative suspension based on the person's refusal to submit to a breath test.

Superior court jurisdiction.

The superior court may suspend a defendant's sentence and impose conditions of probation for up to the maximum term of the sentence or two years, whichever is longer. In district court, a DUI defendant in a deferred prosecution is under the district court's jurisdiction for five years.

Ignition interlock license.

An ignition interlock license (IIL) authorizes a person to drive a noncommercial vehicle with an ignition interlock device while his or her regular driver's license is suspended. When a person is convicted of DUI, the court must order the person to apply for an IIL. The court must also order the person to submit to alcohol monitoring if the court orders the person to refrain from using alcohol.

Ignition interlock device requirements.

After a person's regular license is reinstated, the person must drive with an ignition interlock device for one year, five years, or 10 years, depending on whether the person was previously restricted. This requirement is not related to the IIL.

An ignition interlock device is not required on cars owned by the person's employer and driven as a requirement of employment during working hours.

Vacating records of convictions.

Records of certain misdemeanor, gross misdemeanor, and felony convictions may be vacated if the person has completed all the terms of the sentence and meet the statutory criteria. Records of conviction for gross misdemeanor DUI may not be vacated. Felony DUI convictions may be vacated if at least ten years have passed since the applicant completed all the terms of the sentence.

Implied consent.

Under the implied consent laws, a driver is presumed to have given consent to a BAC test if the driver is arrested for DUI. If the driver refuses the test, the person's driver's license will be suspended regardless of whether there is a criminal conviction. A BAC test may be administered without the driver's consent under certain circumstances, such as if the person is arrested for vehicular homicide or vehicular assault.

Emergency response costs.

A person convicted of DUI and other alcohol-related offenses whose intoxication caused an incident resulting in an emergency response by a public agency is liable for the costs of the emergency response, up to $1,000. The superior court may, as a condition of a suspended sentence, order the defendant to pay restitution to the public agency for its emergency response costs.

Summary of Bill:

Definition of drug for driving related offenses.

The term "drug" is amended to include any chemical inhaled or ingested for its intoxicating or hallucinatory effects. Thus, a person may commit DUI or negligent driving in the first degree if the person is under the influence of a chemical inhaled or ingested for its intoxicating or hallucinatory effects.

Superior court jurisdiction.

Superior courts have jurisdiction for up to five years over a defendant convicted of DUI whose sentence has been suspended. A defendant who has a suspended sentence and who fails to appear for any hearing to address the defendant's compliance with the terms of probation will have the term of probation tolled until the defendant makes his or her presence known to the court.

Ignition interlock licenses and requirements.

Courts must require a DUI defendant to comply with the rules and requirements of the DOL regarding the installation of an IID, rather than requiring the defendant to apply for an IIL. Courts are given discretion to order the defendant to submit to alcohol monitoring.

A person convicted of reckless driving, when the original charge was DUI, may apply for an IIL. The DOL must grant the person credit on a day-for-day basis for any portion of a suspension already served under an administrative action arising out of the same incident.

A person who has never been licensed by the DOL, but who would otherwise be eligible to apply for an IIL, may apply for an IIL. The DOL may require the person to take any driver's license exam and may also require the person to apply for a temporary restricted license.

A person required to have an IID installed after reinstatement of his or her driver's license must pay an additional fee of $20 per month to be deposited into the ignition interlock revolving account. The Washington State Patrol (WSP) must create a fee schedule by rule and collect fees from IID manufacturers, technicians, and providers. Fees are to be deposited into the Highway Safety Account to fund the WSP impaired driving section programs.

Vacating records of convictions.

A record of conviction for felony DUI may not be vacated. A record of conviction for a gross misdemeanor that is a "prior offense" may not be vacated if the person has had a subsequent alcohol or drug violation within ten years of the date of conviction of the prior offense.

Consent for breath or blood test.

When a person is arrested for felony DUI, a breath or blood test may be administered without the person's consent.

Emergency response costs.

The limit on a defendant's liability for the cost of an agency's emergency response is increased from $1,000 to $5,000. Prior to sentencing, the prosecutor may present the court with information regarding the expenses incurred by the public agency. If the court finds the expenses reasonable, it must order the defendant to reimburse the agency and include the reimbursement in the sentencing order.

Miscellaneous.

Other changes are made, including:

- specifying that courts may impose jail time in lieu of mandatory EHM at a ratio of no less than one day in jail for 15 days of EHM;
- providing that plea agreements and sentences for felony DUI must be kept as public records;
- providing that a deferred prosecution for DUI granted in another state is a "prior offense" if the out-of-state deferred prosecution is equivalent to Washington's deferred prosecution;
- specifying that the employer exception does not apply if the employer's vehicle is used exclusively by the defendant solely for commuting to and from work or if the employer is an entity owned by the defendant or defendant's immediate family; and
- allowing municipalities, as well as counties, to establish DUI courts.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.
