Brief History:

Committee Activity: Higher Education & Workforce Development: 2/11/11.

SENATE COMMITTEE ON HIGHER EDUCATION & WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

Staff: Aldo Melchiori (786-7439)

Background: Any retired teacher or administrator, who reenters service in any public educational institution in Washington State at least one calendar month after his or her accrual date, stops receiving pension payments while engaged in the service after rendering service for more than 867 hours in a school year. Any retired teacher or administrator who reenters service in any public educational institution in Washington State one and one-half calendar months or more after his or her accrual date and:

- is hired pursuant to a written policy into a position for which the school board has documented a justifiable need to hire a retiree;
- is hired through the established process for the position with the approval of the school board or other highest decision-making authority;
- whose employer retains records of the procedures followed and the decisions made in hiring the retired teacher or retired administrator and provides those records in the event of an audit; and
- the employee has not already rendered a cumulative total of more than 1900 hours of service while in receipt of pension payments beyond an annual threshold of 867 hours;
- stops receiving pension payments while engaged in that service after the retiree has rendered service for more than 1500 hours in a school year.

When a retired teacher or administrator renders service beyond 867 hours, the Department of Retirement Systems collects the applicable employer retirement contributions for the entire duration of the member's employment during that fiscal year.

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.
