Staff: Lindsay Lanham (786-7120).

Background:

In 2007 the Secretary of the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) was directed to convene an advisory committee to analyze and make recommendations regarding disproportionate representation of children of color in the states child welfare system. As a result, the Washington State Racial Disproportionality Advisory Committee (WSRDAC) was established.

The current membership of the WSRDAC includes the following 15 members: (1) experts in social work, law, child welfare, psychology, or related fields; (2) at least two tribal representatives; (3) a representative of the Governors Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee; (4) a representative of a community-based organization involved with child welfare issues; (5) a representative from the DSHS; (6) a current or former foster care youth; (7) a current or former foster parent; and (8) a parent previously involved with Washington's child welfare system. In addition to data collection and analysis, the WSRDAC submits recommendations for remediation to the DSHS. The Secretary of DSHS is required to report annually to the Legislature on the implementation of the remediation plan, including any measurable progress made in reducing and eliminating racial disproportionality and disparity in the states child welfare system.

The legislative mandate for the WSRDAC originally expired on June 30, 2013, and was later extended to June 30, 2014.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

The WSRDAC is directed to develop membership rules by August 1, 2014, and include the membership rules in the annual secretarys report. When developing membership rules, the advisory committee is required to consult with the Governors Office of Indian Affairs, the Washington State Commission on African-American Affairs, the Washington State Commission on Asian Pacific American Affairs, and the Washington State Commission on Hispanic Affairs.

The advisory committee is directed to conduct an analysis examining the number of children involved in the child welfare system with incarcerated parents. The analysis is to be disaggregated by racial and ethnic group and by geographic region. The annual Secretary's report is required to include findings from the analysis on the number of children involved in the child welfare system with incarcerated parents.

A sunset review process was also added directing a review of the effectiveness and performance of the advisory committee by the Joint Legislative Audit and Review Committee (JLARC). All expiration dates for the work of the WSRDAC are repealed.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill:

The substitute bill: (1) directs the advisory committee to conduct an analysis examining the number of children involved in the child welfare system with incarcerated parents; (2) specifies that the analysis shall be disaggregated by racial and ethnic group, and by geographic region; (3) stipulates that the annual Secretary's report shall include findings from the analysis on the number of children involved in the child welfare system with incarcerated parents; (4) directs the advisory committee to consult with specific commissions when developing membership rules; and (5) adds a sunset process requiring a review of the effectiveness and performance of the advisory committee by the JLARC.
