Background:

The Liquor Control Board (LCB) issues several different types of licenses and permits that allow an entity to serve and/or sell alcoholic beverages. Examples of special permits include: an annual permit for bed and breakfast facilities to offer complimentary wine or beer to overnight guests for consumption on the premises; and a permit to allow liquor distributors and manufacturers to donate and serve without charge alcohol to guests at trade shows and conventions.

There are specific exemptions that allow certain entities to offer alcoholic beverages for no charge without a license or permit. For example, wedding boutiques and art galleries may offer one glass of wine or beer without charge to customers who are 21 years of age or older for on-premise consumption. The wine or beer served at wedding boutiques or art galleries must be purchased from a Washington licensed retailer at full retail price. The wedding boutique or art gallery may not sell beer or wine, or advertise the complimentary service of beer or wine. A wedding boutique or art gallery employee involved in serving beer or wine must complete a limited alcohol server training program.

Summary of Bill:

A permit is created to allow a day spa to offer, without charge, wine or beer by the individual glass to customers for on-premise consumption. The customer must be at least 21 years old and may only be offered, per day, one glass of wine, not to exceed six ounces, or one glass of beer, not to exceed 12 ounces. The wine or beer served must have been purchased from a Washington state licensed retailer. Any employee involved in the service of wine or beer must complete a board-approved alcohol server training program.

A day spa offering wine or beer without charge may not advertise the service of complimentary wine or beer and may not sell wine or beer in any manner. Beer or wine may be offered to a customer only if the services to be rendered will last more than one hour.

A day spa is defined as a business that offers at least three of the following four types of beauty service categories: hair care, nail care, skin care, and body care (massages, wraps, waxing, etc.). To be eligible for the permit, the day spa must provide separate service areas of the spa for at least three of the service categories offered.

The fee for a day spa permit is $125 per year.
