House Committee on Government Accountability & Oversight

Background: Sampling of spirits, beer, and wine by retail customers is permitted in limited circumstances. Beer and wine specialty shops may serve samples of two ounces or less to a customer. Certain grocery stores may conduct tastings with an endorsement issued by the Liquor Control Board (LCB). Breweries and wineries may also serve samples. A craft distillery may provide one-half ounce or less samples of spirits, up to a total of two ounces per day to a customer, on its premises. With the enactment of ESHB 1202 in 2011, LCB was directed to establish a pilot project for spirits sampling in state and contract liquor stores. However, in December 2011 liquor sales became privatized and LCB began the process of closing all state-operated liquor stores.

Responsible vendor program participants must at a minimum: provide ongoing training to employees; accept only certain forms of identification for alcohol sales; adopt policies on alcohol sales and checking identification; post specific signs in the business; and keep records verifying compliance with the program's requirements. Licensees who maintain all of the program's requirements are not subject to doubling of the penalties for a single violation in any period of 12 calendar months. A class 12 alcohol server permit for managers or bartenders requires completion of a course certified by LCB. Curriculum includes subjects such as: the physiological effects of alcohol; liability and legal information; driving while intoxicated; effective intervention; methods for checking proper identification; and Washington laws.

Summary: Spirits retail license holders who participate in the responsible vendor program may provide samples of spirits. Servers must hold a class 12 alcohol server permit. Samples may be one-half ounce or less. No one may be served more than a total of one and one half ounces of spirits. Sampling must be conducted in accordance with rules established for sampling activities in beer and wine specialty shops and grocery stores.
