House Committee on Community Development, Housing & Tribal Affairs

Background: The federal government provides military veterans with a variety of federal benefits, including disability compensation, education and training, employment services, health care, home loans, life insurance, and pensions. The federal Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) administers many of these benefit programs, and provides resources for veterans to access and obtain these benefits.

Federal law prohibits anyone from representing a veteran in preparing, presenting, or prosecuting a claim for veteran benefits unless the person is accredited by the VA. Accreditation may not be used for marketing financial services. A person or organization cannot charge a fee for assisting a veteran in preparing applications or presenting claims to the VA. Only accredited attorneys or agents may charge fees for assisting a veteran prosecuting a claim after a decision has been made on the claim. Any fee agreement must be filed with the VA.

The Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs (WVA) administers veterans' benefits provided by the state. Some of these benefit programs include the veterans assistance program, veterans innovations program, the state veterans homes, homeless veterans services and transitional housing, home loans, and home ownership.

The Consumer Protection Act (CPA) prohibits unfair methods of competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices in the conduct of trade or commerce in Washington. The CPA allows a person injured by a violation of the act to bring a private cause of action for damages. The Attorney General may investigate and prosecute claims under the CPA on behalf of the state or individuals in the state.

2. represent that the receipt of a certain level of veterans' benefits is guaranteed; or

A person must not advertise or promote an event, presentation, seminar, workshop, or other public gathering relating to veterans' benefits or entitlements without disseminating in writing and orally the following disclosure:

"This event is not sponsored by, or affiliated with, the United States Department of Veterans Affairs, the Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs, or any other congressionally chartered or recognized organization of honorably discharged members of the Armed Forces of the United States or any of their auxiliaries. Products or services that may be discussed at this event are not necessarily endorsed by those organizations. You may qualify for benefits other than or in addition to the benefits discussed at this event."

The disclosure is not required when the VA, WVA, or any other congressionally chartered or recognized organization of honorably discharged members of the armed forces of the United States or any of their auxiliaries have granted written permission to the advertiser or promoter for the use of its name, symbol, or insignia. The disclaimer requirements do not apply to continuing legal education courses for veterans' benefits.

The Act does not apply to officers, employees, or volunteers of the state, county, city, any other political subdivision, or a federal agency of the United States who are acting within their official capacity.

A violation of this Act is an unfair or deceptive act in trade or commerce and an unfair method of competition under the CPA.
