special needs. The volunteer parents provide peer and emotional support. The program also offers educational trainings and workshops for parents.

There are Parent to Parent programs in 31 counties including Adams, Asotin, Benton, Chelan, Clallam, Clark, Columbia, Cowlitz, Douglas, Franklin, Garfield, Grant, Grays Harbor, Island, Jefferson, King, Kitsap, Kittitas, Lewis, Lincoln, Mason, Pacific, Pierce, Skagit, Snohomish, Spokane, Thurston, Walla Walla, Whatcom, Whitman, and Yakima.

Parent to Parent USA is a national nonprofit organization whose mission is to promote access and quality in parent to parent support for all families who have children or adolescents with a special health need, mental health issue, or disability. In Washington, many of the Parent to Parent programs are hosted by The Arc of Washington State.

Summary of Bill:

Goals for the Parent to Parent Program for individuals are established and include:

- providing early outreach, support and education to parents of children with special needs;
- matching a trained volunteer support parent with a new parent who has a child with similar needs; and
- providing parents with tools and resources to be successful.

Activities of the Parent to Parent Program may include:

- outreach and support to newly identified parents of children with special needs;
- educational trainings for parents to support their children;
- ongoing peer support from a trained volunteer support parent; and
- regular communication with other local programs.

If funds are provided, the Parent to Parent Program must be funded through the Developmental Disability Administration to a Washington State lead organization that has extensive experience supporting and training support parents for individuals with developmental disabilities. Through a contract with the lead organization, each local program must be administered by a host organization. The lead organization shall provide ongoing training to the host organizations and statewide program oversight.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Requested on January 14, 2016.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) There are now 19 local agencies that provide Parent to Parent programs. The statewide program is hosted by The Arc of Washington. Some of the local programs are hosted by The Arc of Washington, but many are not. Some of the local programs are stand-alone programs, and others are hosted by the Department of Health. Many of these programs run on a shoestring. There is now a network of Parent to Parent programs across the United States. The goal of the program is to match a parent with a trained helper parent. The Parent to Parent Program increases family resiliency. Families have many professionals in their lives, but there is nothing more reassuring than having the help of another parent who has shared similar experiences. The Parent to Parent Program assists parents in preparing individual education plans and in advocating for families. Having the support of other parents prevents families from feeling isolated. The South Sound Parent to Parent program serves families in Thurston and Mason counties. This program helps remove families from the isolation that they otherwise experience. The program provides educational workshops and help navigating the support system. The number of families seeking help from the Parent to Parent Program has been quite staggering. It is difficult to keep up with the demands of families. The programs are scraping together what they can but trying to serve as many families as possible.
