Background: Hydraulic Project Approvals (HPAs) Generally. An HPA is required for any project that will use, divert, obstruct, or change the natural flow or bed of any of the salt or fresh waters of the state. HPAs are issued by the Department of Fish and Wildlife (DFW) for the stated purpose of ensuring the proper protection of fish life.

HPA Fees and Fee Exemptions. DFW must generally charge an application fee of $150 for an HPA located at or below the ordinary high water line. Exemptions from the application fee are provided for project types including:

- pamphlet permits for aquatic noxious weed control and certain mineral prospecting activities;
- applicant-funded contracts;
- HPAs on farm and agricultural lands;
- forestry-related projects regulated under the Forest Practices Act; and
- mineral prospecting and mining activities.

The authority to impose the application fee expires June 30, 2017.

Summary of Bill: No HPA fee is required for emergency permits where the project is necessitated by a natural disaster or phenomenon for which the Governor has declared a state of emergency.
