The CPARB consists of 23 members, including four Legislative members: two from the House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker of the House, and two from the Senate, appointed by the President of the Senate.

Alternative Contracting Procedures.

Alternative forms of public works were first used on a very limited basis and then adopted in statute in 1994 for certain pilot projects. These alternative procedures included the Design Build process and General Contractor Construction Manager process. With some restrictions, the use of alternative public works contracting procedures are authorized to a limited number of public entities. Public entities must apply for certification to use the alternative contracting methods. After three years the public entity must reapply for certification. Criteria for certification
