SENATE COMMITTEE ON NATURAL RESOURCES & PARKS

Staff: Kelsey Morfitt (786-7407)

Background: The Department of Fish and Wildlife (DFW) manages and protects the state's fish and wildlife resources. Statute authorizes the taking of wildlife by DFW.

Wolf depredations are when a wolf injures or kills a pet or livestock. Predatory wildlife includes grizzly bears, wolves, and cougars.

Sheep, cattle, or horses killed or injured by bears, cougars, or wolves, with a minimum loss of $500, are eligible for state compensation through DFW. Compensation for other animal losses depends on availability of federal and private funds.

The Public Records Act (PRA) mandates disclosure of public records unless the record is specifically exempted. Public records include any writing containing information relating to the conduct of government or the performance of any governmental or proprietary function prepared, owned, used, or retained by any state or local agency regardless of physical form or characteristics.

Under the PRA, certain information collected by DFW is exempt from public disclosure. For example, the PRA exempts recreational and commercial licensees' personally identifiable information.

Summary of Bill: The personally identifiable information of persons reporting wolf depredations or assisting in the removal of predators are exempt from public disclosure under the PRA. This includes all persons reporting information to DFW, landowners, landowners' families and employees, trapper contractors, range rider contractors, and DFW employees.

DFW must also report to the Legislature regarding the need to continue the wolf depredation public disclosure exemption by December 1, 2021. This exemption expires June 30, 2022.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Creates Committee/Commission/Task Force that includes Legislative members: No.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony: PRO: Wolf recovery is an emotional topic and some people do not want to work with DFW on nonlethal removals because some people have received death threats, harassment, and abuse. Ranchers and public employees deserve protection for themselves and their families. Transparency is important, but it should not be used to propagate fear and harm.

CON: The newspapers do not need information about private individuals, but the public should know about the actions of the agency and the employees and contractors that carry out those actions. If wolves are removed in secret, then eventually all animals could be removed in secret.

Persons Testifying: PRO: Representative Shelly Short, Prime Sponsor; Tom Davis, WA Farm Bureau; Donny Martorello, DFW.

CON: Rowland Thompson, Allied Daily Newspapers of WA.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: No one.
