SENATE COMMITTEE ON WAYS & MEANS

Staff: Amanda Cecil (786-7460)

Background: According to the Washington Department of Veterans Affairs (WDVA), Washington is home to more than 598,000 veterans, 60,000 active duty, 19,000 guard and reserves, and 2 million family members. WDVA administers a number of programs and services for veterans related to behavior health, education and training, and employment. In 2015, WDVA received an Abraham Lincoln Pillars of Excellence Award for successfully transitioning veterans from active duty to civilian life. The state of Texas also received an award for implementing a multi-agency collaborative program that began developing mental health services for veterans and their families in 2009 using peer-to-peer counseling services. Thirty-five volunteer coordinators recruited more than 1000 volunteers and trained 986 volunteers in peer support skills, providing statewide coverage. Coordinators and volunteers are charged with identifying mental health resources in their communities that could play a role in meeting a veteran's needs.

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

The Department of Enterprise Services (DES) administers a veterans' preference in hiring for state employment that provides up to 10 percent preference points on tests results. The Office of Financial Management (OFM) was directed in Executive Order 13-01 to set standards for agency plans and develop agency resources for transitioning service members.

Summary of Bill: WDVA is directed to offer training and support for volunteers interested in providing peer-to-peer support to other veterans.

OFM is directed to work with WDVA, DES, and other interested stakeholders to develop a military recruitment program. The program must provide credit to veterans for knowledge, skills, and leadership abilities. Program development must include, but is not limited to, identifying:

- public and private military recruitment programs and ways those programs can be used in Washington;
- similar military and state job classes and develop a system to provide veterans with experience credit for similar work; and
- barriers to state employment and opportunities to better utilize veterans' experience.

OFM must report to the Legislature with a draft plan by January 1, 2018.
