Background:

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

Current state vehicle lighting laws require lighting devices on the rear of any vehicle to display a red color, with exceptions for stop lamps or other signal devices, which may be red, amber, or yellow. Specific requirements allow stop lamps on the rear of a vehicle to display a red or amber light, or any shade of color between red and amber.

Federal motor carrier safety laws allow rear signal devices on commercial motor vehicles to display either a red or amber color and require rear stop lamps to display a red color.

Washington receives over $6 million annually from the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration to implement motor carrier safety programs.

Summary of Amended Bill:

For commercial motor vehicles, stop lamps must be red and other rear signal devices must be red or amber.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date of Amended Bill: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) The Senate wanted to narrow the bill a little bit and not have it apply to all vehicles but just to commercial vehicles. That is the requirement from the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration, so the Washington State Patrol (WSP) is totally fine with applying the change just to commercial vehicles. Passing this bill allows the WSP to keep the $6 million annual payment from the federal government, which pays for about 57 full-time employees in the WSP's Commercial Vehicle Division.

(Opposed) None.

Persons Testifying: Monica Alexander, Washington State Patrol.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: None.
