Staff Summary of Public Testimony: PRO: Students brought this bill forward so that they can better serve their community and get more experience utilizing their skills. For example, if a pharmacy student wants to participate in health fair by taking someone's blood pressure, current law requires that they can only do this if a licensed pharmacist is there to precept. This bill would allow the pharmacy student to take someone's blood pressure if a physician or nurse was available to precept. There currently are not enough preceptors available so expanding the professions that can precept will greatly help students have more access to serve their communities. Stakeholder's concerns have been addressed and all known stakeholders are in support of the bill. Health care is moving towards a more interprofessional approach and it is important that education also take this approach.
