EFFECT: Removes the requirement that the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) provide technical assistance and capacity building resources to applicable entities in development and coordination of urban and community forestry activities.

Removes the provisions specifying that the DNR may use existing tools to assist communities to develop urban forestry management plans and ordinances. Instead, communities may consult with individuals with expertise in urban forestry or landscaping. An element of a management plan addressing maximization of building heating and cooling efficiency may address site-appropriate trees for summer shading rather than the appropriate siting of trees for summer shading.
