Background: The Personnel System Reform Act (PSRA) provides for collective bargaining of wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment with classified employees of state agencies and higher education institutions. Employees covered by the PSRA include all state civil service employees, unless an exemption applies. One such exemption is for confidential employees. Confidential employees include employees who assist assistant attorneys general who: 1) advise and represent managers or confidential employees in personnel or labor relations matters, or 2) advise or represent the state in tort actions.

In 2019, the Legislature granted assistant attorneys general the right to collectively bargain under the PSRA.

Summary of Bill: Assistants to assistant attorneys general who advise or represent the state in tort actions are removed from the definition of confidential employee in the PSRA, granting them the right to collectively bargain.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Requested on January 10, 2021.

Creates Committee/Commission/Task Force that includes Legislative members: No.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony: PRO: The pandemic has led to budget cuts and employees want to be represented to have a voice in how cuts take place. An obscure law prevents professional staff in the Torts Division from collective bargaining. Budget constraints have led to turnover and people with institutional knowledge leaving because employees are paid more in the private sector.

Persons Testifying: PRO: Senator Steve Conway, Prime Sponsor; Dennis Eagle, Washington Federation of State Employees; Joshua King, Washington Federation of State Employees; Danielle Garrett, Washington Federation of State Employees.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: No one.
