SENATE COMMITTEE ON WAYS & MEANS

Staff: Alicia Kinne-Clawson (786-7407)

Background: Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion. The State Board for Community and Technical Colleges (SBCTC) has adopted a diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) work plan which includes developing hiring resources, analyzing cultural climate resources, creating professional development opportunities, and identifying opportunities for the SBCTC to act as a leader on DEI activities.

Integrated Basic Education and Skills Training Program. Washington's community and technical colleges (CTC) created the Integrated Basic Education and Skills Training Program (I-BEST) to teach students literacy, work, and college-readiness skills to help them move through remedial courses faster. The I-BEST program uses a team-teaching approach, in which there are two teachers in the classroom at a time. One provides job-training instruction and the other teaches basic skills. The I-BEST model allows students to work on remedial needs and college-level skills at the same time.

Guided Pathways. The Guided Pathways program is a research-based approach that simplifies higher education choices for students. Courses are grouped together to form clear paths within chosen fields to get students through college and into careers. Guided Pathways provides students with targeted advising to help them stay on their chosen path and evaluates learning outcomes as students progress down a path. The SBCTC is implementing Guided Pathways at CTCs as a pilot. Six colleges were chosen for the pilot, and five additional colleges will be selected this year.

Counselors. Counselors in the CTC system are considered academic employees and faculty appointments for purposes of tenure and collective bargaining. There is no statutory definition of counselor for purposes of CTC employees, and there are no statutorily prescribed minimum requirements for a person to be employed as a counselor at a CTC.

1079 Standard. The Legislature passed HB 1079 in 2003, allowing eligible undocumented students to pay in-state tuition at state universities and colleges if they meet all of the following criteria:

- received a diploma from a high school or the equivalent in Washington State;
- lived in the state for at least three calendar years prior to receiving their diploma or equivalent; and
- continuously lived in the state since receiving their high school diploma.

Eligible students must provide, to the institution, an affidavit indicating they will file an application to become a permanent resident at the earliest opportunity and are willing to engage in other activities necessary to acquire citizenship including, but not limited to, citizenship or civics courses.

Summary of Bill (First Substitute): Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Strategic Plan. Beginning in 2022, all CTCs must submit to the SBCTC strategic plans for achieving diversity, equity, and inclusion on their campuses. The process must include stakeholders from diverse groups.

Guided Pathways. At a minimum, Guided Pathways implementation must include:

- comprehensive mapping of educational pathways;
- dedicated advising and career counseling;
- data analytics to measure student learning and program outcomes; and
- student success support infrastructure with a focus on closing equity gaps among historically underserved populations.

The Washington State Institute for Public Policy must complete a study of guided pathways with a preliminary report due in 2023 and a final report due in 2029.

Faculty Diversity Program. By July 1, 2023, CTCs must establish a faculty diversity program for retaining and recruiting faculty from diverse racial, ethnic, and cultural backgrounds.

Tenure-Track Faculty. By December 31, 2023, SBCTC must create a plan to achieve a systemwide ratio of 70 percent full-time, tenure-track faculty and establish equal-pay-for-equal-work for all faculty members by the end of the 2030-31 academic year. Equal-pay-for-equal-work must be based on the instructional work of the faculty including student support, time in class, preparation for class, grading and assessment, and office hours equivalent to those required for full-time tenure-track faculty under the relevant collective bargaining agreement. The plan may recommend a ratio of less than 70 percent full-time tenure track faculty as long as the state board can demonstrate no impact on student learning or equitable outcomes.

Mental Health Counselor Grant Program and Minimum Standards. The State Board for Community and Technical Colleges (SBCTC) must establish a pilot program to increase student access to mental health counseling and services. The SBCTC must provide grants to eight CTCs, half located outside the Puget Sound area, to implement one or more strategies to increase access to mental health counseling and services.

Minimum faculty-counselor standards are established and include a graduate or professional degree in a specified fields, completion of appropriate graduate coursework, completion of a practicum and internship, and other standards as determined by the state board.

Washington College Grant Stipend Program. Subject to appropriations, all Washington College Grant eligible students may also qualify for a stipend to support basic needs including housing, food, medical care, and supplies.

Undocumented Student Loan Program. Residency requirements are modified to require one year of Washington State residency.

Modifications to Residency Statute. The 1079 standard is modified to allow students to be resident students for the purposes of aid and tuition if they have lived in Washington for at least one year.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony on Original Bill (Higher Education & Workforce Development): The committee recommended a different version of the bill than what was heard. PRO: This is a proposal focused on expanding access for all students in our community and technical colleges. Our students are intellectually capable but the reasons why we see challenges to attaining a credential are all the obstacles in the way for disadvantaged students including students of color, students with disabilities, low-income students, and first generation students. This is our to-do list in the coming years—to have more wraparound services, more counseling, more aid, more full-time faculty, and equal access to student aid. My enrollment at Clark College has changed the direction of my life and also my family's life. Too many students can not complete their course of study. This bill offers research based solutions for the struggles students face. Racial inequalities can not be overcome without significant investments in the system. This bill would expand equity in our system and help some of our most vulnerable populations. The targeted academic advising in this bill will help close the equity gap for first-generation, low-income, and students of color. As a non-traditional student I did not know about financial aid and did not think I could qualify. Getting help to students who qualify is important and please make this important investment into equity. Faculty counselors are a vital service to student success. This bill takes the next steps in meeting the needs identified by the Legislature two years ago for more faculty counselors. I attend Centralia College and the lack of racial diversity of faculty does not match the student populations served by our colleges. This bill begins to address this issue by developing systems of retention and recruitment for faculty of color. Students from diverse cultures will succeed more regularly if the faculty look more like them. Access to childcare is vital to working students and necessary to promote equity in the system. As an undocumented student I have to pay nonresident tuition and it is overwhelming. This bill provides a remedy to help me afford college. This bill makes investments in the faculty workforce and in faculty that will better reflect the students that we serve.

CON: The roundtable has set a goal that 70 percent of Washington's students receive a credential. The things identified in this bill are things we have also identified as important. However, we want these things to be better connect with current guided pathways efforts. In addition, the cap on advanced computing businesses was part of a carefully negotiated bill and we oppose removing it.

OTHER: We have concerns about lifting the cap on the tax that was negotiated just two years ago. However, we are not opposed to the bill because one of our AWB priorities is to support education efforts that are culturally responsive and improve equity in our systems. This bill is going very much in that direction. I fully support the vision and agree with the need to invest further in our colleges. Diversity, equity, and inclusion are priorities for our colleges. But, I have concerns about the fixed staffing ratios in this bill and think that those decisions would be better left to our local boards to make decisions that reflect the needs of the communities they serve. Our local communities look to our colleges to design programs that serve those needs and its imperative our colleges retain the ability to do that. We appreciate the goals in this bill but have concerns about how the bill seeks to achieve them.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony on First Substitute (Ways & Means): PRO: There has been a huge shift in the ratio of part-time to full-time faculty and as a result it is more difficult to build a report with your teachers. I am in support of this bill because I would like to make sure that our teachers are paid adequately and that students have access to faculty in a meaningful way. Access to counselors is critical. This bill establishes pilot programs that help all students, particularly students of color, get access to the support services they need. This bill will help provide the wraparound services that students, especially low-income and students of color need to be successful. The chance to participate in college was a life altering event for me. Colleges need the resources to be able to support more students. Our colleges have been deeply engaged in work around diversity, equity, and inclusion. Thank you for the changes to the bill that make this more workable for the colleges. Many of our students are juggling work and family. The purposes of guided pathways are to remove the impediments that may delay students from achieving their goals. We want to make sure our colleges are not putting up barriers to students. We welcome the evaluation in section 4 but we think it may duplicate requirements from HB 2158. Our concern is that the elements to be examined may go beyond what were charged to implement. We worked with the sponsor to make some changes to the full time faculty section that align with the state boards goals. Many of the faculty in our colleges are adjuncts and this bill will advance equal pay for equal work. This bill will help our institutions more adequately reflect the students that we serve.
