Committee Activity: Housing & Local Government: 1/19/22.

Brief Summary of Bill

- Requires a landlord to accept a personal check, cashier's check, or money order for rent payments.
- Prohibits a landlord from including in the rental agreement a provision in which the tenant agrees to make rent payments through electronic means only.

SENATE COMMITTEE ON HOUSING & LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Staff: Brandon Popovac (786-7465)

Background: The Residential Landlord-Tenant Act (RLTA) regulates the creation of residential tenancies and the relationship between landlords and tenants of residential dwelling units. The RLTA establishes rights and duties of both tenants and landlords, procedures for the parties to enforce their rights, and remedies for violations of the RLTA. Under the RLTA, a rental agreement may not include provisions in which the tenant, for example:

- agrees to waive or forgo rights or remedies available under the RLTA;
- agrees to pay the landlord's attorneys' fees except as authorized; or
- agrees to pay late fees for rent paid within five days following its due date.

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

Under the RLTA, a landlord may refuse to accept cash for any payment of rent made by a tenant, but must provide a receipt for any payment made by a tenant in the form of cash when the landlord accepts cash. A landlord must also provide, upon the request of a tenant, a written receipt for any payments made by the tenant in a form other than cash.

Summary of Bill: A landlord must accept a personal check, cashier's check, or money order for any payment of rent made by a tenant. A landlord may not include in the rental agreement a provision in which the tenant agrees to make rent payments through electronic means only.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Creates Committee/Commission/Task Force that includes Legislative members: No.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony: PRO: The bill will help renters stay in housing, remove barriers to other housing, and provide time for renters to receive rental assistance. It does not change or prohibit the use of electronic portals or systems by landlords to accept rent payments through an agreement with the tenant. Some senior citizens prefer paying rent with personal checks. Implementing electronic rent payment systems often comes with unregulated fees, which can be a hardship for low-income households who are unbanked or have poor internet access. There are also risks if the electronic rent payment system does not work or is hacked, potentially exposing the personal or financial information of tenants. It is critical to ensure a variety of options for tenants to pay rent. The bill should be expanded to include tenants in manufactured housing communities. Having a bank account is a privilege that is not accessible to all persons. People should have equal access to any means to pay rent and other bills.
