EFFECT: Removes provisions that aggregate contributions between an entity and its majority owner. Removes provisions that aggregate contributions between two entities when one is established, financed, maintained, or controlled by the other. Removes provisions that aggregate contributions between two entities with the same majority owner. Removes the requirement for a limited liability company to certify that it is "a legitimate business with a legitimate business interest" before providing contributions, while still requiring a certification that it is not created for the sole purpose of making campaign contributions.
