Background:

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

The Criminal Justice Training Commission (CJTC) provides basic and advanced law enforcement training and educational programs for law enforcement, local corrections officers, and other public safety professionals, including by administering the Basic Law Enforcement Academy.

The CJTC is authorized to accept, receive, disburse, and administer grants or other funds or gifts from any source, including private individuals or agencies, the federal government, and other public agencies, for the purpose of carrying out the CJTC's statutory duties.

Summary of Amended Bill:

The statutory provision authorizing the Criminal Justice Training Commission (CJTC) to accept, receive, disburse, and administer grants or other funds or gifts from any source for the purpose of carrying out its statutory duties is expanded to also allow the CJTC to accept any money or property donated, devised, or bequeathed to it. The CJTC may not consider any input on its policy decisions or curricula from any person who has donated, devised, or bequeathed property to it. The CJTC may determine the value of any property for the purpose of recognizing donations and must, to the extent feasible, coordinate donations with any grant applications or other sources of funding or gifts.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) There is currently a six-month waiting time for new recruits to begin a class of the Basic Law Enforcement Academy (BLEA), which is required training under state law. This bill provides great utility by giving businesses and organizations the opportunity to adopt and fund a BLEA class. This will help reduce the waiting time for classes, allow the Criminal Justice Training Commission to host additional classes, and bridge the gap between law enforcement and the community.

(Opposed) None.

Persons Testifying: Senator John Lovick, prime sponsor; Lacey Ledford, Washington State Criminal Justice Training Commission; and James McMahan, Washington Association of Sheriffs and Police Chiefs.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: None.
